6) Supplemental Recruitment Initiatives

(a) Initiative: Station personnel training

ATW Media, LLC (“ATW”) provides regular training to its employees based on the job description and department of the employee. The company recently updated its “Radio Station Operator Handbook & Certification Course” All technical personnel took the course and were given a salary increase upon successful completion and certification. Salespersons receive training from online and software-based training courses that are specific to radio station and broadcast selling. The company holds regular interdepartmental meetings in which regulatory, financial, community service and news coverage ethics are discussed.

(b) Initiative: Internship Program

The company again notified Tyler Junior College, Texas College, Kilgore College and the University of Texas at Tyler that internships will be available for the fall academic semester of 2024. This was repeated for the spring academic semester of 2025. The notification set forth the areas of work and training that would be available as well as the requisite qualifications for a student to be considered.

(c) Initiative: Texas Broadcasters Education Foundation

One of the critical problems facing radio broadcasters is the shortage of people seeking employment in the field. The Texas Broadcasters Education Foundation (TBEF) provides scholarships to young men and women who have expressed an interest in entering the broadcasting industry. The company made a cash contribution to TBEF to further the foundation's ability to fund scholarships and helped evaluate potential recipients. Company president Paul Gleiser sat on the TBEF scholarship selection committee.

(d) Initiative: Station personnel training

The Texas Association of Broadcasters (TAB) sponsors web-based seminars aimed at broadcast station personnel training and education. Areas covered include sales, newsroom practices, programming and technical education. The company makes TAB web training available to employees and makes time available for employees to attend during normal work hours.
